Miscellaneous Record Book

Marriages 1855 - 1871

INTRODUCTION

These Marriage entries date back to the formation of Midland County in 1855. They are not chronological by date of marriage, but in the order they appear in the record.

The italicized numbers to the left of each item are the pages on which the original entry appears in the Miscellaneous Record Book.

Difficulty in reading the old-time script and the phonetic spellings cause some problems in a work of this kind. Imagination should be used in researching names, such as "July" which otherwise may be known as "Julie," and "Elan" which may be "Ellen." The names of Hinkling, Hinkle, and Hickling, appear to be of the same family. The old writing was copied as faithfully as possible.

To add interest to the recording of these early marriages, a number of Indian marriages are noted. There is also a preponderance of Scottish names, as well as many Dutch surnames. Sias and McSias, both appear in the Index. Was the "Mc" sometimes dropped?

Politically, Isabella was under the jurisdiction of Midland County until 1860, thus accounting for the marriage records of many Isabella County residents in these records.

The "Addenda" at the back of this book, may assist the researcher in determining the church affiliation of the participants in these marriages.
